

Future Cargo by Requardt & Rosenberg Visual Story

This is an outdoor performance at a festival.

This show is 50 minutes long.

It takes place on a shipping container. The shipping container is attached to a truck.

The truck has 'Future Cargo' written on it.

You watch while standing outside.

THE PLACE

You wear headphones. You hear sounds, voices and music in the headphones.

The show uses music, movement and dance.

It doesn't have a story. It might make you think about things that are familiar or unusual.

The show starts with a truck that has arrived from outer space

THE PLACE

I am the truck driver.

I sit in the passenger seat of the truck.

We are creatures inside the container.

You will see us get up to lots of different things.

THE PLACE

We are dancing on a moving floor inside the shipping container.

We wear different costumes and wigs.

THE PLACE

Some of what we do is unusual. We like to find new things to play with and learn new tricks.

The lights behind us change colour.

I get on the roof of the shipping container.

THE PLACE

I am wearing an astronaut costume.

I leave the shipping container to stand on the roof with the driver.

We all dance inside the shipping container.

The shutter comes down. The show is finished.
